WHY UNDERSTAND EXECUTE OPTIMIZE

WHY

Why We're Changing

Weekly assignments are gone. The accounts in front of you today are the accounts you keep.

OLD PROCESS

Weekly lead assignments

Short-term ownership

Start over every week

NEW PROCESS

Own your territory

Build familiarity

Prioritize strategically

Maintain your own pipeline

WHY

What Is a Book of Business?

A portfolio of leads that you own and continuously manage.

Nothing enters or leaves it without your decision. You choose what gets worked, what gets parked, and what gets replaced.

01 You decide what gets worked today

02 You keep the records accurate

03 You replace what leaves

THE MEASURE OF SUCCESS

Success is determined by how well you manage your Book — not by how many new leads you receive.

UNDERSTAND

Your Book of Business at a Glance

Every lead you own sits in exactly one status. Nine buckets describe your entire territory.

New	Attempting	Recycled
Nurture	Booked	Opportunity
Customer	Unqualified	Dead

EXECUTE

Daily Workflow

Run this every day, in this order.

01
Open your Book

02
Choose your focus
Call first OR pre-vet first

03
Review Attempting OR New / Recycled

04
Execute

05
Update the CRM

06
Complete the half you skipped

Back to the top of your Book

EXECUTE

Weekly Workflow

Leads leave your Book every week. Bring the same number back in.

WHAT LEAVES

- Leads that moved to Nurture
- Leads marked Unqualified
- Booked opportunities
- Dead records

WHAT COMES IN

~25

cleaned leads per day

~100 per week

Enough to replace everything that left and keep the pipeline healthy.

Nothing arrives on its own. If you don't pull the leads in, your Book only gets smaller.

UNDERSTAND

Understanding Lead Statuses

New	New to the CRM, or never called or emailed.
Attempting	Has a last contacted date. Outreach in progress. No activity for 30 days moves it to Nurture.
Recycled	Completed a three-month nurture and can be outreached again.
Nurture	Qualified but not ready for outreach. Three-month cooling period.
Booked	A demo has been booked.
Opportunity	Sales qualified lead, currently associated with a deal.
Customer	Associated with a Closed Won deal, or on a low level plan.
Unqualified	Does not meet demo qualification parameters.
Dead	Fake account, bad email, requested DNC, or to be deleted.

UNDERSTAND

Lead Status Lifecycle

Leads move forward, loop back, or exit. Nothing sits still.

FORWARD PATH

New / Recycled → Attempting → Booked → Opportunity → Customer

RETURN PATH

Attempting → Nurture → Recycled

30 days quiet | 3 months | back in play

EXITS

Unqualified — fails demo parameters

Dead — bad data or DNC

UNDERSTAND

HubSpot Automations

Log the disposition — the status updates itself.

No Answer	→ Company → Attempting (if New / Recycled)
All GK dispositions	→ Company → Attempting (if New / Recycled)
Connected — Hold	→ ‘Hold’ toggle set to Yes
All Not Interested	→ Company → Nurture
All Meeting Set	→ Company → Booked
All Unqualified	→ Contact → Unqualified
Do Not Call	→ Contact → Dead

Note: two rules act on the contact, not the company.

EXECUTE

Why Lists Matter

“I have thousands of leads.”

Segments answer the only question that matters this morning: which of them am I working today?

EXECUTE

Active vs Static Lists

	Active list	Static list
MEMBERSHIP	Updates itself as records meet or stop meeting the criteria	Fixed at the moment you create it
EDITING BY HAND	No — criteria decide who is in	Yes — add and remove records yourself
USE IT FOR	Standing views you return to daily: New, Recycled, Attempting	A batch you intend to finish: today's call list, a pre-vetting set
WATCH OUT	Leads drop off as their status changes — that is intended	It goes stale — a static list becomes inaccurate over time, so use them strategically and not for the long term

EXECUTE

Building Smart Segments

Filters worth saving. Combine two or three to get a list you can finish in a session.

- New leads
- Recycled leads
- No existing contacts
- Software
- Vertical
- SDR Additional Notes
- Tasks
- Previous connects
- Google reviews
- Previous meetings
- Email responses

EXECUTE

Pre-Vetting Lists vs Dialing Lists

A segment is only useful once you know which of the two jobs it is doing.

PRE-VETTING TOOL

Deciding who is worth working

You are checking each account against demo parameters before spending a dial on it.

Typically goes hand in hand with email sequences: the sequence runs while you qualify.

Output: qualified leads ready to dial, and Unqualified records cleared out.

DIALING TOOL

Deciding who you call today

The list is already qualified. Now it is a queue you work through and disposition.

Support it with email-only sequences, or one-off emails around the call.

Output: dispositions logged and statuses updated the same day.

EXECUTE

Choosing What to Work

Decide the job first, then pull the filters that do it.

Job 01

Find low-hanging fruit

Recycled / Attempting

Vertical

Past connects

Software

Job 02

Build a pre-vetting list

New / Recycled

Vertical

Software

Google reviews

Job 03

Identify Unqualified accounts

All statuses except Unqualified, Dead, Customer, Booked, Opportunity

Non-ICP verticals

Non-ICP software

Job 04

Build today's call list

Attempting / New / Recycled

Your own code, software or last activity

Or simply: Attempting

TAKEAWAY Every list should have a purpose.

EXECUTE

Building Your Own Workflow

Give yourself a way to sort your Book that HubSpot can filter on. The SDR Additional Notes field is one place to do it.

AF1
Hot

AF2
Warm

AF3
Past rejection

AF4
Pre-vetted & ready to dial

EXAMPLE ONLY

These codes are one rep's system, not a required process. Build a convention that works for you and use it consistently.

OPTIMIZE

Common Mistakes

Six ways a Book stalls.

01

Ignoring New and Recycled

02

Not pre-vetting before dialling

03

Leaving the CRM dirty

04

Forgetting to replenish

05

Confusing active and static lists

06

Working one list instead of rotating through the Book

OPTIMIZE

Habits of Top Performers

01 Keep your Book organized

02 Clean around 25 leads a day

03 Run your own organization system

04 Keep CRM data updated as you go

05 Build intentional segments

06 Think a week ahead

07 Leave every conversation with a clear next step

OPTIMIZE

Key Takeaways

1. Keep your Book of Business organized.
2. Add new leads every week to keep the pipeline healthy.
3. Leave every conversation with a clear next step — even if it is months away.
